

‘... through the sun, the mountains, and the moon. A bolt of lightning hits the tree.’

‘... star arrived, the boat turned back home: on its way, it passed a dolphin and a shooting star.’

‘... fourth the fire, then the water, and finally come back to the void.

... supported by the wind. Finally, the plant can grow.’

In Peggy’s room, you find a sticky note on which something is written, but half of it is masked by a mark of coffee...

64