

Who is the murderer?

Scenario ID

Description

---

In this scenario, the students will be immersed in the universe of Agatha Christie's novel "The A.B.C. Murders". The students will use their reading, speaking and listening skills to proceed throughout the scenario. The clues include three anonymous letters, a map, a journal, photos, a train timetable, a notebook. The game master actively participates in the escape room when he/she hands a newspaper to the students in return for the right amount of money.

The A.B.C. Murders is a detective fiction novel written by the British writer Agatha Christie. The novel features the characters Hercule Poirot, Arthur Hastings and Chief Inspector Japp, as they contend with a series of killings by a mysterious murderer known only as "A.B.C.".

A serial killer is murdering people in their names' alphabetical order, starting with a victim whose initials were A. A. The murders appear to lack a motive, yet Poirot suspects that there was a clear motive behind one of the murders.
